

ENLARGING

Pencil in the outlines of the basic shapes of the fish, referring to the small print grid (upper left) & transferring those lines or shapes to the correct spot in the larger grid (lower right).

Draw as much detail as needed.
When you are done, you should have a perfectly proportional enlargement of the original image.

Name _____

Line Practice Sheet

This is a practice in observation. Recreating an image by hand has little to do with your skills with a pencil. The skill required to recreate an image is observation.

Observe the box on the left, and remake the same design in the box on the right. Pay attention to every detail. Your objective is to remake the line design exactly. Use your eye to see not just the line, but the shapes the line makes of the white space surrounding it. Use those shapes and compare as you adjust the line design.

